Empowering Women's with Sustainable Livelihood

Project Summary: Empowering Rural Women Through Skill Development and Livelihood Enhancement!!

Under this project, 700 economically disadvantaged women living in need will be connected with banks through Self-Help Groups (SHGs). Various training programs will be conducted, focusing on capacity building, life skills, Entrepreneurship Development Program (EDP), orientation, goat farming, organic manure production, dairy farming, etc. These initiatives aim to boost their self-confidence, promote livelihood growth, and foster empowerment. In addition to sewing machines, beauty parlour kits, vermicompost kits, etc., will also be distributed to support poor and needy women in establishing self-employment livelihoods.

Challenges: Addressing Educational and Economic Disparities!

The target group consists mainly of uneducated rural women belonging to socially and economically weaker sections, often having dropped out of school. These women typically depend on their husbands or fathers for their needs. Additionally, the project aims to address the challenges faced by poor and rural communities, including farmers, dropout women, girls, artisans, and those forcibly migrating to different places, such as construction workers and daily wage laborers. Agriculture in the region is adversely affected by a decreasing water level.

Solutions: Fostering Empowerment through Skill Development and Awareness!

The project endeavors to enhance the confidence, unity, social awareness, understanding, and leadership qualities among women. Skill development and capability enhancement will play a crucial role in improving their living standards and livelihoods. The project also aims to promote education in villages, with a focus on foundational education for children. Additionally, it seeks to address social issues such as child marriage, dowry system, and other prevalent social evils. Besides, sewing machines, beauty parlour kits, vermicompost kits, etc. will also be distributed to poor needy women as self-employment livelihood support.

Long-Term Impact: Breaking the Cycle of Poverty and Empowering Communities!

The ultimate goal of the project is to reduce the number of women living below the poverty line. Through skill development and improved livelihoods, poor village women will achieve a better quality of life, contributing to social and economic empowerment. The project envisions a brighter future for these 700 women and their families, breaking the cycle of poverty and fostering sustainable development in the community.
