

HOPE THROUGH HEALTH

HOPE THROUGH HEALTH believes that everyone deserves access to quality healthcare regardless of the latitude and longitude of their birthplace. Hope Through Health is dedicated to transforming health and healthcare systems for the most vulnerable in Togo, West Africa. Combining frontline expertise and rigorous evaluation, Hope Through Health saves lives by treating patients and strengthening health systems. Founded by Peace Corps volunteers working in partnership with a local association of people living with HIV/AIDS, Hope Through Health was launched in 2004 to improve access to healthcare and promote innovation in healthcare systems. By working in partnership with local organizations, patients, health workers, researchers and policymakers in Togo, Hope Through Health develops insights and solutions that are transferable and replicable.

► Our Focus Areas

HIV/AIDS

Hope Through Health was born in response to the acute AIDS crisis in Togo. Inspired by the dedication of local community members, Hope Through Health designed a community-based healthcare delivery model which provides comprehensive clinic and home-based services. Working alongside their local partner, AED-Lidaw, Hope Through Health has contributed to dramatic increases in access to and efficacy of HIV care and treatment in northern Togo.

Maternal and Child Health

At the request of our patients and partners, Hope Through Health is expanding our model to strengthen care for the most vulnerable in Togo, women and children. Hope Through Health trains community health workers to deliver proactive care to women and children and provides mentoring and supplies to strengthen the staff and facilities of existing public clinics. Hope Through Health's model will improve the delivery, management and quality of maternal and child health services in northern Togo in an effort to end preventable deaths of women and children.

Health System Innovations

Hope Through Health works with the Togolese government to improve health policy and practice so that the national health system can work better for its patients. Hope Through Health engages with policymakers and practitioners working to improve healthcare and shares the evidence generated from its research and programs to advance change on a national scale. We advocate for access to dignified treatment and care for all people in Togo.
