Boom Mosby, Founder & Director

2017 TIP Hero (US State Department Trafficking In Persons), Boom started HUG Project in 2012 with the goal of assisting child victims of sexual abuse and human trafficking. She continues to fight for child victims through HUG's partnerships with CACT (Children's Advocacy Center, Thailand), TICAC (Thailand Internet Crimes Against Children task force), and TATIP (Thailand Anti-Trafficking In Persons task force).

Prevention

Reaching and teaching at-risk children.

- Conducting workshops directly with children in neighborhoods, villages, and schools including Safe/Unsafe/Confusing Touch, Child's Rights, and Online Safety.
- Operating an after school program for at-risk students out of the CACT center.

Support and training for caregivers of children.

- Providing training for teachers, social workers, restoration home staff, and volunteers regarding sexual abuse and its effects- how to prevent it, identify it, stop it, and provide healing from it.

Protection

Investigative support.

- Fact-finding, surveillance, technological support, case consultation, child forensic interviewing.

Victim Assistance.

- Legal advocacy, walking victims and their families through the judicial process.

Law Enforcement capacity-building.

- Promoting a victim-centered approach throughout Thailand.

Restoration

Connecting child victims and their families with needed resources including:

- Shelter, medical care, legal aid, drug rehabilitation, counseling, family therapy, educational scholarships, vocational training, job placement, and citizenship attainment.

“When facing the evil of human-trafficking, we are all confronted with a choice: do nothing, or do something.” - Boom Mosby, HUG Project Thailand
