

PROPOSED FINAL PHASE OF CONSTRUCTION MUSIC FOR LIFE AFRICA FOUNDATION YOUTH CENTRE

We are creating and building a home to train children/youth and design quality productions in cultural Music both locally and internationally. Once trained, our youth are performing at various events to raise revenue that directly supports these young people with their education. On top of that, we will develop cultural and traditional instruments at our new Home that we will supply to the schools we support in cultural dance mentorship, and other cultural groups, making it possible to sustain the MULIA programs. www.music4lifeafrica.org

Over the past years, our ongoing programs have supported parents in the community with school requirements for their children as well as some portion of the school fees.

Background

MULIA Stands for Music for Life Africa. It is a registered community based foundation in Uganda – Africa. At MULIA, we believe life's challenges, struggles, accomplishments and celebrations can be conveyed in music. We also believe that music inspires, music brings life to us, no matter the situation we are facing. We use music to enhance the lives of the children/youth involved in our program. It allows them to create community ownership, explore their cultural identity, express their creativity, and most importantly, raise funds to assist with their education costs.

Music for life was initiated by Rogers Sserunjogi from Uganda, who loved and wanted to be a musician from his community, however lack of resources or platform to explore his ability for music and also working in various organizations in the past 13 years, he felt that starting such initiative in his community can be a great platform for children and youths who can't move to Kampala the capital city of Uganda and access such resource Centres to explore their ability and they are few and expensive to access.

Why we need your support

To achieve our short term and long term goals, MULIA foundation embarked on construction of a home that will include: training space, administrative offices, storage, playground, and shades for various cultural history lessons of Uganda and Africa at large, Training computer lab, Community library and safe space for youths and community social program. The Impact

By supporting our cause to finish the building, you will be directly contributing towards the sustainability of the organization and building a center where African culture, particularly in Uganda, can be conserved as well as contributing to these young star's education.

Over 60 youths/children are recruited to understand their culture annually.

Support for education by use of music, dance and drama connects communities and enables them to build their economic base. In particular, Mulia supports Street Business School, where mothers of the kids we work with learn to start new business and learn skills for business management.

Our community library on this center will support reading and writing in the communities we work in, as well as eliminating computer illiteracy among youths and kids we work with from vulnerable communities.

The center will close the gap between urban children and rural children, as kids from Mulia supported families are introduced to music, and use this to improve them and their families livelihoods.

Risks & Challenges

We know you like giving to projects that have showed potential. We have been working for 4 years, and believe we have the potential to change lives with local solution after your empowerment with finishing this building. if we achieve the goal of having our own center. Your contribution will enable us to reach our goal and expand our impact in the Mukono community.

Going forward, any additional funds raised by Mulia will be used to implement the first other programs in the pipe line, like training 200 women through our street business school program.

The most challenging risk is to raise funds and they are not enough. However, we already have the hardest phases completed, and so this campaign will help us to finish or move on another level of construction.
