Needs

Over 80 percent of Somalia's vulnerable mental disabled people live in outside and outdoors and streets. TTCO is now handling the Raywan Mental Hospital hosting and handling 300 patients 223 men and 77 women. Hospital is caring and treating patients during this emergent condition of COVID-19 with inflated food price, shortage and insecurity. Regular occurrences of natural disasters have led to conditions of food insecurity, which have been aggravated by soaring prices of food, agricultural inputs and fuel, mainly affecting the vulnerable poor mental disabled people.

In Waqooyi-galbeed region a deterioration of the food security is caused by a combination of factors: poor farm product production, resulting in extremely low cereal production; poor pasture and livestock body conditions as well as; reduced livestock number, increasing food prices, hence decreased incomes from livestock and livestock product sales; declined farm labor opportunities for poor agro-pastoralists and soaring local cereal prices. This pandemic disease majorly affected to mental disabled people in the hospital during food crises. As a result of soaring prices, decreasing number of agricultural outputs are becoming unaffordable, culminating in increased food insecurity and vulnerability.

Activities

TTCO's project has been providing food assistant to food security mental disabled people in Somalia including delivery of food to the hospital to assist the inflation of food prices during the emergent condition of the COVID-19.

The food insecurity reduction activities are also being promoted to improve food hygiene and sanitation to reduce the risk of being infecting to the disease.

The proposed project activities to assist in sustainable and assistant of food to the hospital include:

1. identification of stakeholders and beneficiaries in the hospital
2. participatory procurement and distribution of food assistant to include:
 - Supply of rice, paste, food oil, flour, sugar and medical PPE and medical drugs.
 - Agricultural products including varieties of maize, sorghum, red beans and white beans.
 - This food will cover in a period of three months amid the COVID-19 pandemic

Justification of the project

The funding requested will go a long way in supporting mental disabled people to accelerate the response initiated by TTCO to empower food supply to the Raywan Mental Hospital. This project will promote the sustainable and food security during the emergent condition of COVID-19. The funding will address the funding gap of shortage of food and the inflation of food prices in the earlier of the condition. This project will further including women and men in the hospital to get food because the relatives of mental disable people are unaffordable to give them food. The project will also target the most vulnerable groups(women headed household, elderly of 65 above years, child headed household of 15 to 18 years, disabled, Gender based violence survivals (GBV), chronically sick),IDPs who will be prioritized in the selection and also the vulnerable host community.

The food security and livelihood intervention endeavors ease access to basic food and reduce hunger among vulnerable children, women and men who are badly affected by mental illness in County. TTCOs current project has already enabled significant improvement to food security and strategies proposed in this proposal will continue to effectively augment the support to the emergency of the local food economy, while paying special attention to the people hosting the hospital. TTCO has viable working relationship with the government, NGOs an Community Clusters in supporting the food security and livelihood in Somalia.
