For Parents

We know that educating our children today is difficult and different. That's why we offer several tools, along with the Student Books and Activities.

- On-line courses for those parents 'concerned' about their kids' education.
- A blog for the 'more concerned' parents to share their concerns.
- And for the 'most concerned' of all parents, a website with information about values and virtues-based education as well.

ALIVE TO THE WORLD attracts and involves young readers, who identify with the characters and learn through them the practical workings of the universal values of justice, solidarity, teamwork, and how learning the steps towards integrity produces increasing self-respect and self-confidence, leading to success in the different facets of their lives.
