FUNDESIA

Fundación para el Desarrollo Social y la Investigación Agrícola

Unfortunately, in southwestern Colombia, cocaine trafficking occurs all over the world, fueling internal violence and the degradation of people. That is why we are granting scholarships to women with intellectual and social talent to develop professionally and in turn to give back to the community a social service as managers of development and peace and help its people who desperately need training, for this it is important to expand virtual education with greater coverage and even more quality in this context of a pandemic, we need your collaboration and charitable heart to help women improve their quality of life and that of their family and environment.

With your help there is hope for these families

Our challenge.

In this area of the country, 900 young people graduate annually, most of whom withdraw from studying to go on to join the lines of subversive groups and drug trafficking.

This occurs due to a lack of opportunities, and educational programs such as Fundesia offer them training alternatives in higher education for work. We have managed to help in 20 years of social and educational work to remove more than 900 young people from armed groups and outside the law for the reason of education and more than 3,000 young people who have improved their quality of life to be useful to society, however, it is necessary to support talented women leaders since through this we can achieve a stable and lasting peace in the territory

SOLUTION:

Help us transform vulnerable lives and communities through international cooperation. We have managed to build a school in this area of the country from where we promote the full educational day for the entire country, lost in Colombia 50 years ago and now we are promoting an institution of higher technological education, especially in agronomy and the promotion of the entire rural area productive, where we train and graduate more than 600 students annually through agreements with universities and institutions, however it is necessary to further strengthen and expand coverage and even more so for women with social talent.

LONG-TERM SOCIAL IMPACT

With your help we want to Scholarship to many young people, especially very poor but talented women, so that they continue to study at a higher level and in return acting as local development managers of their community of origin and can return in social service the local impulse of development that helps to the transformation of that harsh reality of its people and multiplying the talents and knowledge acquired.
