

FELLOWS PROGRAM

All young people have academic capacities and leadership skills to solve current problems, Filantropis invests in these talents to continue university educational training, to shape a better future in the community.

Every year, new talents apply in the selection process, in order to benefit from an investment to go to university. This training is complemented with a work methodology, of taking theory to practice, doing personal projects for a common good in Society. The commitment of Filantropis towards the student is to pay the enrollment and university fees. In addition, special financing is offered for the costs of accommodation, transportation and educational materials, for students who request it.
