

Ihr Mitgefühl
kann Leben
retten

Zürich, November 2025

Dear Friends,

In a world flooded daily with heartbreaking news, Iran may not always make the headlines. Yet behind prison walls, far from the public eye, the lives of children and families are silently shattered each day by death sentences.

"Papa, Inshallah this will all be over soon – when will I see you again...?"

These were the words of a child, tearfully speaking to their father on the prison phone — a father sentenced to death.

No embrace, no kiss — only a voice remains.

These children are the most innocent victims.

At Welle, we are committed to ending executions through our ongoing campaign, and to securing a future for these children. Join us in this effort.

With kind regards,

H. Aman

Your Contribution Matters

Be a light in the darkness — today.

No child should have to spend their childhood in a prison waiting room.

With your support:

we can work to stop executions and provide support to affected families.

we can give these children a voice.

we can help shape a humane and hopeful future..

Like Tiam,
who — thanks to your help — was able to embrace her father once again.

The Forgotten Children

Children of Incarcerated and Condemned Individuals in Iran, Suffering in the Shadows of Prisons

- According to international reports, thousands of children in Iran have lost a parent due to imprisonment or execution.
- Deprived of their mother or father, these children are denied even the most basic emotional needs: security, affection, and care.
- The uncertainty surrounding the legality of the judicial process and the unknown timing of a possible execution plunge these children into a constant state of fear and instability.
- When the primary breadwinner is imprisoned, many families fall into extreme poverty, homelessness, and lose access to education and healthcare. The absence of parents makes these children especially vulnerable to violence, abuse, and sexual exploitation.
- The psychological strain leaves deep, long-lasting scars on their mental health.
- These children bear a silent burden of grief and injustice — they are the invisible victims, unseen by society.

The reality is:

The imprisonment or execution of a person does not end with that individual. It destroys the lives of entire families — especially those of the children.

What do we do?

- We support international conferences — such as those at the United Nations in Geneva — that address human rights violations in Iran.
- We organise actions and silent vigils in front of the UN and throughout Switzerland to call for an end to torture and executions in Iran.
- We support an independent satellite broadcaster that shares current news, information, and documentaries about the human rights situation in Iran.
- We engage in legal action and provide humanitarian support to help save lives.
- All members of Verein Welle work on a voluntary basis. As a result, administrative costs have remained below 9% for years.

Verein Welle is a registered non-profit and tax-exempt organisation — your donations are tax-deductible.

With your donation, you help us save lives and improve the human rights situation in Iran.
